ABOUT US

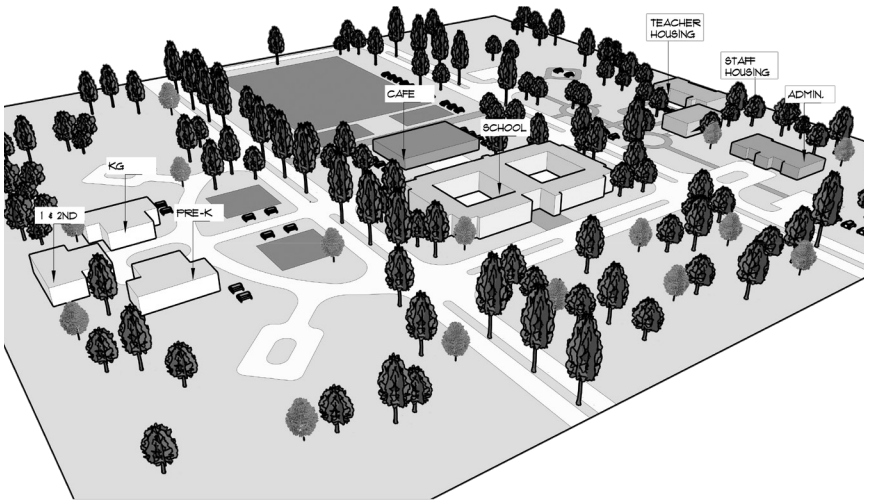

The Shanti Bhavan Children's Project is a residential education program built to uplift children from India's lowest social and economic class. Our children come from families earning less than $2 a day and who have been trapped in poverty for generations. By giving these children an opportunity they would have otherwise been denied—an education on par with their upper-class peers—they are able to compete on equal footing in India's white collar professional workplace. In this way, Shanti Bhavan is unique; while most non-profit educational models focus on short-term literacy goals, Shanti Bhavan offers 17 years of radical intervention.

The program has had unprecedented success. With a Shanti Bhavan education, our children are now being accepted into top 25 universities across India. Our college graduates are working full-time at companies like Amazon, Deloitte, Deutsche Bank, EY, Goldman Sachs, HSBC, Mercedes Benz, and more. These graduates are now paying it forward, giving 20-50% of their salaries to their families, communities, and other children in need—creating a ripple effect that impacts thousands.

With these successes in hand, we are looking to expand and uplift hundreds of more children and their families.
